SUMMARY

Full Stack Senior Web Developer with over 18 years of experience. Currently working as a Senior Developer at a B2B SaaS company. Enjoy learning through hands-on work, finding solutions for (not only) tech problems and sharing knowledge within collaborative teams.

Started out of curiosity as a teenager (messing around with FrontPage, Dreamweaver, Flash, and others). That led to my first job as Web Designer, working with tools like Photoshop, Corel Draw, Fireworks and frontend development using HTML, CSS, and Javascript. Acquired interest in backend by learning PHP from a coworker at the time (2007). After a year, I assumed the role of "Webmaster", maintaining multiple company websites.

In 2013, I started freelancing, working directly with clients, designing and developing pages. Seeking more opportunities for collaboration within a team, I joined a small startup in 2018 as a Frontend Developer, working with React.js for two years. I later took on a role as Fullstack Developer, building applications with Next.js, Ruby, and Golang, at the e-commerce branch of the multi-platform company where I currently work. Recently, I have been studying LLMs and using AI agents to enhance solutions and accelerate deliveries.
